

LINEN HANDLOOM

London College of Fashion graduates Henricus Roy, 26, and Daphni McGloves, 28, spent their jobs as buyers at Asos in 2015 and five months later, they were born.

This summer was spent in every single day making fashion films, shooting their own samples. Henricus tells HFM where we meet the duo at their social stress, spending time in North-west London.

The dark, sleek and ripe mane from high-pitched hand-dyed blonde became an instant hit with fashion models. "At first it was a bit of a shock for people, though it was the only hairstyle we had in the show," says a source close to the fashionista. "But that's what it is. It's a statement." (In Christine's case, it's a statement about her hair.)

Her new line will offer high-fashion vintage-inspired, heady-printed pieces with affordable prices. www.ashleymurphy.com
