SHADE

Magic

A collection of vibrant watercolor illustrations for the "Shade" series, featuring a variety of colors and textures. The illustrations are arranged in a grid, with each one showcasing a different shade of the color. The background is a collage of various images, including a person's face, a cityscape, and abstract patterns.

It means that Apple's design approach is far more than just a collection of aesthetic design choices. It's a way of thinking about design that's deeply rooted in the company's history and its commitment to innovation. It's a way of thinking that's been shaped by a series of design choices that have led to the creation of some of the most iconic products in the world.
